Target Market Worksheet

Who are you trying to reach?

What is it about them that will make them want to buy your products or services?

Where are they located?

What relevant attitudes or beliefs might they have that could impact their decision to buy from you?

What do your customer want that your competitors aren't delivering?

It's important not to confuse the needs of your social enterprise with the needs of your not-for-profit's mission. Please only think about the products or services delivered by your social enterprise.

Who is it that really buys from you?

Who is your primary audience, and who might influence that audience? List as many audiences as you can, and list the factors that drive their choices. What do they believe about your products or services, and what do they believe about your organizations?

If you were to close tomorrow, who would miss you? Why?

Often by rephrasing the reasons you will be missed you can discover vital benefits that are associated with your social enterprise. In marketing, we call these our "Unique Selling Propositions, or USPs"
